BLOOMINGDALE RESIDENT CELEBRATES 100th BIRTHDAY

Bloomington, Ill. (November 28, 2007) – Bloomington resident Rose Petite celebrated her 100th birthday with friends and family at a birthday bash on Sunday, Nov. 25 at Alden Valley Ridge Rehabilitation and Health Care Center. Petite, who is a resident of the facility, came to Alden Valley Ridge in December 2003 after living in Bloomington for 22 years.

Petite was presented with flowers from the staff and enjoyed cake and refreshments with her family.

During the celebration, her son Nick Petite of Palatine, and daughter Geraldine Hinton of Bloomington, read a proclamation from Robert Iden, Mayor of Bloomington, who proclaimed Sunday, Nov. 25, 2007 as “Rose Petite Day” in Bloomington. The Mayor’s proclamation stated, that she “is an inspiration to us all... because she has spent her long life as an active, giving and caring person.” The proclamation concludes by wishing Rose continued health and happiness.
